

Shou Zi Chew (Chinese: 周受资; born 1 January 1983) is a Singaporean business executive who has been the chief executive officer (CEO) of TikTok, an online video platform owned by Chinese company ByteDance, since 2021.<sup>[1][2][3]</sup>

Early life and education

[\[edit\]](#)

Chew was born on 1 January 1983 in Singapore.<sup>[4]</sup> His father reportedly worked in construction and his mother in bookkeeping.<sup>[5]</sup> Upon graduating from Hwa Chong Institution,<sup>[5]</sup> Chew went on to serve National Service in the Singapore Armed Forces.<sup>[5]</sup>

After his military service, Chew went on to study at University College London in England.<sup>[6]</sup> He graduated from the college in 2006 with a Bachelor of Science in economics.<sup>[7]</sup> In 2010, he completed a Master of Business Administration degree at Harvard Business School,<sup>[8]</sup> and while there completed a summer internship at Facebook prior to its IPO.<sup>[9]</sup>

Career

[\[edit\]](#)

After graduating from University College London in 2006, he stayed on in London to work as a banker for the Goldman Sachs Group for two years before he joined Yuri Milner's venture capital firm DST Global.<sup>[5]</sup> At the Russian investment firm DST Global,<sup>[10][11][12]</sup> Chew led investment into JD.com, Alibaba, and Xiaomi.<sup>[10][11][12]</sup> He also led a team of early investors in ByteDance in 2013.<sup>[5]</sup>

In 2015, Chew joined Xiaomi as its chief financial officer.<sup>[5]</sup> In 2019, he became Xiaomi's foreign business president.<sup>[5]</sup>

In March 2021, Chew joined ByteDance as its chief financial officer.<sup>[13]</sup><sup>[14]</sup> He subsequently replaced TikTok CEO Kevin A. Mayer,<sup>[15]</sup> who left the ByteDance subsidiary after four months on the job.<sup>[16]</sup>

In March 2023, Chew testified before the United States Congress regarding the legislative effort to ban TikTok in the United States.<sup>[17]</sup> Following the testimony, then senator Marco Rubio requested the U.S. Department of Justice investigate Chew for perjury.<sup>[18][19]</sup> Chew testified again in January 2024, during a United States Senate Judiciary Committee hearing regarding legislation on child internet safety.<sup>[20]</sup>

He was the honorary chairperson of the 2024 Met Gala as TikTok was the lead sponsor of the event.<sup>[21][22]</sup> Chew was recognized as one of the most impactful Asians in 2024 by Gold House.<sup>[23]</sup> In December 2024, Chew met with Donald Trump at Mar-a-Lago to lobby against a ban of TikTok under the Protecting Americans from Foreign Adversary Controlled Applications Act.<sup>[24]</sup> Chew was present at Trump's inauguration.<sup>[25]</sup>

Personal life

[\[edit\]](#)

Chew is married to Vivian Kao, a Taiwanese American businesswoman. They met as classmates at Harvard.<sup>[26]</sup>

References

[\[edit\]](#)